Hard Facts - Good Reasoning

Joseph Noah Kahn has been a merchant in the Glades for some 32 years, with time out for a trial on Clematis Street in West Palm.

Moore Haven and Belle Glade have had Kahn's stores, with Pahokee as a base of operations.

Recently, Joe has concentrated his merchandising of clothing for all the family on Avenue "A" in Belle Glade, with budget stores for women and men alongside his quality store.

When asked "Why?" Joe says, "To begin with, Belle Glade is the geographical center of the Great Glades; reports of carload shipments from the Glades show that near 65 percent originate in the Belle Glade-South Bay area, cigarette tax shared by Miami and North New River Canals."

"My indications are that the center of population five and/or ten years from now will be near the southeast corner of Lake Okechobee."

"Information and opinions on which I base my conclusions are substantial, and only the years will demonstrate the soundness of this move—but, I'm very optimistic."

Welcome Joe, with your prediction that your judgment will have been proved correct, when you're bouncing grandchildren on your knee.

Questions & Answers For Farmer-Income Taxpayers

FILING REQUIREMENTS
 Let's discuss the returns a farmer must file. First of all, what farmers must file tax returns?

If you are under 65 years of age at the end of the tax year, you must file if you have gross income of $600 or more during your tax year. If you are 65 years of age or older, you must file if you have gross income of $1200 or more. These rules hold true whether or not any tax would be due on the return. In addition, you must file a return if there is any self-employment tax due. The self-employment tax is a tax imposed on farmers and other self-employed persons to give them social security coverage. Since there are special rules pertaining to the self-employment tax on farmers, I would prefer to leave any discussion of it to later. I might also emphasize that the basic requirements for filing, the $600 and $1200 figures mentioned previously, are based on gross income and not on net profit.

What tax return forms should farmers use?
 The Form 1040 is the one to be used by farmers. Form 1040A cannot be used as it is designed for persons whose income is solely from wages and a small amount of dividends and interest. Farm income and expenses should be listed on Schedule F. This is a separate schedule designed for farmers and is attached to and becomes part of the Form 1040.

When is the tax return due?
 There are special rules for farmers, to qualify, two-thirds of your gross income must be from farming. For purposes of stating specific dates that returns are due, I'll use the year 1961 as an example. A farmer has a choice. If he does not wish to file an estimate of his tax, he can file his return and pay the tax due by February 15, 1962. Or he can file an estimate of his tax on Form 1040ES and pay this amount by January 15, 1962. If he does this, the Form 1040 and any tax owed on it will be due by April 15, 1962. Normally, the return is due on April 15, but that date falls on a Sunday in 1962. I certainly urge farmers and all other taxpayers to file their returns as early as they possibly can. With millions of returns being filed, we need the cooperation of those who are able to file so that the use of the tax can be processed as economically and as efficiently as possible.

Are farmers required to file any other tax forms?
 Some of them are. If a farmer hires an agricultural employee for cash wages for 20 or more days during a year or pays him cash wages of $150 or more during a year, he must withhold the social security tax from the wages he pays. He must file Form 943 by January 31 of the following year and forward with this form the withheld tax and an equal amount representing the farmer's share. For wages paid in 1961, the amount to be withheld from the employee is 3 percent of his wages. For wages paid in 1962, the amount to be withheld is 3 1/8 percent. If you have agricultural employees, I suggest that you get a copy of our Circular A from your local A or B District office. This explains in detail the withholding provisions. Also, if a farmer pays $600 or more to an individual in the course of this business for wages, rent, or interest, he must advise the Internal Revenue Service of this payment by filing information returns. These are Forms 1096 and 1099. However, rent paid to real estate agents need not be reported on these forms.

When are the Forms 1096 and 1099 due?
 They must be mailed so as to reach the District Director's office no later than February 28 following the year of payment. For each individual who received $600 or more, a separate Form 1099 must be prepared; one copy of this form is given to the individual and another is sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The Form 1096 is a summary sheet on which to send the 1099's. However, it must be filed even if you only made these payments to one individual.

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
 Zeke Crab's preacher came by the country store Saturday night, said he was all wore out from attending the committee meetings all week. He allowed as how the Pulpit Committee meeting Friday night was a humdinger.

First off, he said, Rufe Zinder brought up the age-old topic of raising the preacher's salary. The good Parson said he made his usual suggestion that they go no further with this topic on account of him having some trouble trying to collect his present salary. Then Rufe's wife, he said, put the stopper in the salary jug by making her customary remark about the bird in hand being worth two in the bush.

With everybody agreed on the salary item, Katie Hightower took advantage of a pause in the conversation to bring up the subject of the New English Translation of the Bible, the Parson reported. Katie claimed she didn't like it on account of it not having two columns like the King James Bible. Zeke's wife allowed as how the number of columns had nothing to do with it that her Sunday School class liked it on account of they could understand it better without all them thees and thous and thys. By this time, said the Parson, everybody was gitting in the argument so he thought he better say a few words.

He said he told 'em they was many translations of the Bible and the important thing was to live by the Good Book instead of arguing about it. He said he told 'em the story about the preacher that asked the old farmer what church he belonged to. The farmer told him they was three roads to town, the upper road, the lower road, and the swamp road. "But," said the old farmer "when I gitt to town with my wheat the man at the mill don't say, 'Jim, what road did you take to town?' He says, 'Jim, is your wheat good?'"

The Parson said he wasn't too shore everybody got the point to his story. In fact, he said, he's got a member of his congregation here and there that's a little slow in the mental department. He recollected the time he asked the congregation to write down the names of the twelve Apostles and put 'em in the collection plate. One feller, he said, couldn't name but five and he had Abraham Lincoln included in the list.

But the Parson reported the meeting broke up ing good spirits and in fine harmony. He allowed as how harmony was the most important thing a preacher has to work for in the church. And he said he learnt a long time ago that the best thing a preacher can do to keep harmony is to make ever seem have a strong beginning and a strong ending and keep 'em pretty close together. And just to prove he was right, the feller gives him a round of applause at that point.

Your truly,
 Uncle Dan

Baptist Close Stewardship Campaign

The two month Stewardship Educational and Enrollment Campaign at First Baptist Church came to a close Sunday, February 11. The campaign was promoted to enlist a greater percentage of the congregation in supporting the ministry of the church through active participation in the stewardship of life. One of the major highlights of the campaign was held on Thursday night, February 1 when hundreds of people gathered for a church wide dinner at Jameson Hall, Community Methodist Church.

Methodist To Hear

Missionary Sunday

Guest speaker at the Community Methodist Church this Sunday evening will be Miss Rosemarie Kascher. She will be speaking during the regular evening worship service at 7:30.

Miss Kascher recently has returned to her home in Miami after a term as missionary in Japan during the past three years.

She is a 1958 honor graduate of the University of Miami and served in her home church of South Miami First Methodist Church as choir soloist and director of the youth choir while attending college. Upon graduation Miss Kascher joined the J-3 program of the Methodist Church and served as missionary-teacher of music and English at Kioassu Junior College at Nagasaki, the first women's college in Japan.

She is well informed as to the efforts of the Communists to take over the minds of students in Japan, and the feelings of the young people there growing out of the atomic bombing of the city.

Miss Kascher will also meet with the young people before the church service and share with them some of her experience with a question and answer period.

The congregation of the Community Methodist Church cordially invites its friends and all interested persons to share this most interesting and stimulating program with them this Sunday evening.

Church Mergers

By Rev. Lee D. Rustin

The recent announcement of Dr. Carson Blake, one of the leading clergymen of the Presbyterian Church, that several of the leading Protestant Churches ought to merge has caused a great deal of conversation among clergymen and laymen alike. The recognition that the Church of Jesus Christ divided into several hundred different denominations is not harmonious with the spirit of Christian Brotherhood is not new. But the present trend of churches toward a closer tie is gaining interest. It is difficult to explain to a non-Christian why it is reasonable for the Body of Christ to be divided into 3 hundred and 50 different parts each claiming it is the only part of any importance.

But division in the church is not something which started with the Protestant Reformation in 1517 when Martin Luther called his ninety-five theses on the Cathedral door of Wittenburg, Germany. Paul had dealt with schisms in the church when he wrote to the Corinthians in the early years. In the early years there were several larger or smaller heresies which divided the church, but Gnosticism was probably the most important during the first two centuries.

By far the most important division came first about the fourth century when the Roman Empire began to divide between the East and the West. At the time the church began to divide and this division was virtually complete by the sixth century, which brought about the Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic Churches. The second major division came in 1517 when the Protestant Reformation under Martin Luther, Zwingli, and John Calvin really began to gain in size, importance and power. Since that major break the world has seen the growth of major divisions of Christians - Protestant, Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox.

The Protestant is divided into several hundred denominations, each promoting some special area of the Gospel; but all of which are more or less alike than they are different. Actually some eighty-five percent of all Protestants are to be found in five denominations. These include Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Anglican and Presbyterian. Most of the other denominations are quite small when projected upon the world mission. This is the reason that Dr. Blake suggested the merging of Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians (Anglican) and Disciples of Christ (next largest in America).

Such a merger is far more complicated than just to agree to be friends. It is not certain that such a nonolithic church would reach more people with the Christian message than is reached through many denominations. It is quite possible that what would be lost as well as gained. However, there is one thing which can and ought to be observed immediately and that is a closer fellowship among all Christians regardless of denomination.

The National Council of Churches is one avenue through which this fellowship is attempted. Much criticism has been directed toward this organization, most of which is misunderstanding. The National Council of Churches is not a

The Woman's Society of Christian Science will meet at the Methodist Church, Lake Harbor on Feb. 19. Mr. Ralph Kiden of Belle Glade, will show pictures of Costa Rica taken when he was there. This has been one of the Latin American countries studied recently and the films should be most interesting.

Churches of Christ Scientist

The nature of true happiness will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Soul" include these verses from 1 Corinthians: "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord... Glory and honor are his presence, strength and gladness are in his place."

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 57) "Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and Love. It is unselfish, therefore it cannot exist alone, but requires all mankind to share it."

church; it has no authority; it speaks for one; its actions cannot be enforced upon any church or individual. Its purpose is research, suggestions of new approaches, bringing leaders of different denominations together for sharing of ideas and problems. It is a co-operative body on the national level much the same as the local ministerial association is on the local level. It does have paid employees and its membership is composed of laymen as well as clergymen, but it has no authority beyond making research data and shared ideas available to those who wish to use them.

It is strange how much criticism has been engendered by progressive or new concept of traditional and conservative viewpoints especially in religion. We are living in an age when closer relations between all Christians must be attempted and achieved unless we want to see the Christian faith decline before rising paganism and atheism.

Chapel Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Proverbs 3:1-6; Psalm 25:1-10
In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. (Proverbs 3:6)

Going home late one stormy, cold night, I was stopped at a railroad crossing by a freight train. As the great diesel rolled past, I could see a faint light in the control cabin. I knew that within that cabin were men who were alert every moment of the trip. Regardless of the night, they would direct that great train on its journey carrying merchandise of great value.

This reminds me that God is at the controls of our lives. He is ever watchful, always guiding no matter how stormy the night, nor how desolate the day. Sometimes the journey is difficult; but if we allow Him to guide, He will bring us through successfully. It is only when we think we know it all and think we can control our own destinies that we get off the track.

As the great train rolled on, it finally passed out of sight and hearing. I breathed a prayer. I prayed that I might always let God have complete control of my life; that He would be my personal God, and direct my path in Christlike living.

PRAYER: O God, help this day to put Christ in Complete control of our lives. Thus when the day is ended, may we have the satisfaction of knowing that He is our personal guide. In His blessed name we pray. Amen.

During the fourth of the series of classes in English to Foreign-born, some class time was spent discussing Valentine Day customs in this country and in countries around the world. The class welcomes the opportunity to learn and share in the customs of this country. Many of the members have children in school, and are glad to better understand the school's observation of special days.

Members of the class, during the "Talks in English" time, discussed newspaper articles which they had read. Mr. de la Vega and Mrs. Blanco discussed the differences between Cuba and other Latin American countries as regards economic and social conditions which are conducive to Communism gaining a foothold.

At the close of the class period, Mr. George Young, visitor, spoke of the effects that the raising of sugar cane is having on the production of cattle in the Glades area. Mr. Young praised the group for the observation and learning the language and customs of this country, and expressed the belief that in the future more and more North Americans would be traveling in, learning the language of, and expressing an appreciation for the culture of Latin American countries.

On long trips or short hauls, Super Shell's energy-packed ingredients—Platformate—helps to increase mileage and give top performance.

This 2½-mile stretch shows the extra mileage you can get—in every 100 miles you drive—from just one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients

Today's Super Shell has 9 ingredients for top performance. One of them is a mileage booster named Platformate. Shell makes it with eight million dollars' worth of precious platinum catalyst. But Platformate is well worth every cent. A recent mileage test proves the point in a dramatic way.

The half-cupful test

Super Shell, with Platformate, was carefully measured into the fuel system of a conventional car. The car was started, accelerated and held at 30 miles per hour until it ran out of gas.

Then, the same amount of gasoline without Platformate was poured in—and the test was run again. Same car. Same driver. Same test road.

In repeated tests, Shell engineers found that Super Shell took the car an average of 48 feet farther per half-cupful.

That may not sound like much. But when you drive 100 miles, that 48 feet turns into 2½ extra miles. A worthwhile bonus. NOTE: Platformate gets its strange name from the platinum re-forming process which Shell scientists use in making it.

More energy than aviation fuel

Huge pressures and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart and then re-form it into super-energy components. These components release 8 percent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

You now know how one of Super Shell's nine ingredients gives extra mileage. Each of the others does a job that's equally important to top performance.

EXAMPLE: Shell's unique TCP additive can help restore power lost to combustion deposits—can also extend spark plug life.

Adjusted for weather changes

Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula is adjusted for seasonal changes. Result: you can count on fast starts when the temperature drops. And when a warm spell moves in, Super Shell helps prevent infuriating hot weather stalls. You get top performance all year round.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentamix for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is gum preventive to help keep carbon clean inside.
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is "cas-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer" to help check cold-weather stalling.
- #8 is Allylate to help control "high-speed knock."
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

*Trademark Shell Oil Company. Platformate TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2889,118.

Program On Egypt Highlights Meeting Of Ev. USDA Club

The regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Everglades USDA Club, held Monday, February 12, at the Community Center in Canal Point, was highlighted by the presentation of an illustrated program on Egypt by Dr. Earl S. Quisenberry.

Dr. Quisenberry, a recognized authority on cereal breeding, was called out of retirement to serve as a member of a team staffing United States pavilions at international fairs in New Delhi, India and Cairo, Egypt in 1951. He was introduced by Don Fisher, program chairman, who outlined Dr. Quisenberry's many accomplishments. The club members learned that Dr. Quisenberry received his PhD at the University of Minnesota and that he served as a research worker and administrator in the U. S. Department of Agriculture many years, finally ascending to the post of Deputy Administrator before his retirement.

Dr. Quisenberry illustrated his talk, entitled "Egypt—A Land of Contrast" with colored slides. He presented interesting statistics and pictures relating to Egyptian Agriculture. He stated acre of farmland only one fourth as of farmland per person compared to 2 acres per person in the United States. Since Egypt is very arid—average annual precipitation is less than two inches—farmers must rely upon the Nile River, the narrow lifeline of Egypt, for irrigation water. Reclamation projects, the largest being construction of the Aswan Dam, will add an estimated two million acres of farmland to the present six million acres.

Dr. Quisenberry said that farming methods are very primitive in Egypt, with practically all work done by hand. About 90 percent of the people of the country are engaged in agriculture. Many children are used for this work, as well as in industry.

He emphasized the stiff competition among countries, particularly among the United States, Russia and Red China, in international fairs. Dr. Quisenberry stated that the market bar, where the Egyptian people purchased barbecued chicken, donuts and other pastries prepared on the spot, was the most popular feature at the American pavilion.

Mr. Mills Byrom, Club President, reported on progress of Jack Little in St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach, where he is recovering from surgery performed last week. Dr. Forre introduced his guest, Patrick Gallagher, who recently received his M. S. in soils at North Carolina State, and is touring several experiment stations before his return to his native Ireland. Another guest present was Mrs. Mills Byrom.

al Congress of Parents and Teachers. This organization has grown thru the years to a current membership of 13 million—the largest organization in the world.

Reorganizing PTA Mrs. Meyers also gave her views on the reorganization of the Belle Glade PTA into two separate associations, an elementary and a junior-senior high PTA, which is currently being considered. It is her belief, from past experience, that it is easier to obtain officers in smaller organizations and to have a more active participation by all members.

Following Mrs. Meyers' talk, John Kinlaw, Chairman of the committee appointed by the executive board, to investigate the possibilities of reorganizing the PTA, gave the committee's report as follows: (1) Programs could be better adapted for the PTA's Elementary and Junior-Senior High Schools, since problems of interest are not the same. (2) The aim of PTA is for parent education for the betterment of the child, and this can be accomplished more thoroughly through the smaller organizations usually have better attendance and more individuals willing to accept positions of office. (3) Joint effort could be made on the Halloween Carnival (5) Each school should have its own PTA and representatives in the National Council.

This seems to be in favor of reorganization, thus far, however, the final decision will be made next month when the issue will be voted upon.

Mr. Richard W. Grover, announced that Dr. John T. Greene, with the Parent Farm Institute, will speak at the Community Methodist Church Sunday night, March 4. He will lecture at the High School on March 5, and for the students and on Monday and Tuesday nights, March 5 and 6, to the adults.

Mr. Pellon Morris announced the Lions and Rotary Clubs are sponsoring the Navy Band's appearance here March 13, and hoped for the excellent response as was had for the Marine Band last year. Mr. Grover, Science Teacher, announced the School's Science Fair will be held in the cafeteria March 8. Parents are urged to see the worthwhile exhibits.

Mrs. F. C. Donkey gave the devotional from the Timothy 2:15, an article from the Upper Room and the PTA Prayer, D. W. Fisher, president, presided, at the business meeting.

Wild Hog Barbecue Planned Mar. 10-11

The 12th annual, two-day, public wild hog barbecue and Big Cypress Jamboree of the Everglades Conservation and Sports Club will be held deep in the Big Cypress country March 10 and 11, J. L. Nipper (3380 S. W. 109th Terrace, Miami), club president, announced today.

Again the event will be held for two days as a result of the large attendance last year, and the program is being expanded to provide increased interest for everyone—youth or old.

This year's event will be staged at the club's grounds on the Old Loop Road south of Monroe Station on the Tamiami Trail (U. S. 41) approximately 40 miles east of Naples and 60 miles west of Miami. Again the jamboree will kickoff the club's annual membership campaign, and the funds from memberships and other contributions will be used to carry on various conservation projects. Money from last year's barbecue was used to purchase and release 25 wild hogs to help restock the once profitable wild hog hunting country in Collier County.

Housing Loans For Farm Labor Offered By FHA

The Florida Industrial Commission thru its farm labor division and County Agent will sponsor a meeting in Belle Glade at the State employment office on February 15th at 8 p. m. to explain the details of available long-time financing at low rates of interest thru the Farm Home Administration.

The last omnibus bill in Washington provided the machinery and capital to allow users of domestic farm labor to apply loans for housing.

In addition to farmers, associations and cooperative groups are eligible, it is reported. Whatever the device trail to consummation some have investigated seem to think some of the money seen down the local level, thru bureaucratic red tape.

Anyhow, if you're interested, there will be folks there to explain the commencing of an application.

May be the give away boys have left a loop-hole for domestic education in this well-conceived plan.

Handle Castro Alone Advises Cong. Rogers

Congressman Paul G. Rogers has called for additional unilateral action, such as the Cuban trade ban, to bolster our position against communism and to demonstrate our leadership to the Free World.

"The theory of multi-lateral action in international affairs has been the growing and dominant philosophy in our State Department since World War II," Congressman Rogers told the house of representatives today. "This concept has reached such proportions that those in the State Department who hold the minority view of unilateral action by this Nation have been smothered, their voices muted in the conduct of our affairs. This condition is particularly true in our Latin American policy, and painfully so in our handling of Communist Cuba."

"To have multi-lateral there must be leadership— and for leadership there must be a leader— and for the leader, unilateral action is at times the moving force."

Congressman Rogers indicated that we have seen the results of unilateral action in the case of the Dominican. In the face of a serious threat there, the United States took strong action, demonstrated leadership, and sent warships to within sight of land. This step paved the way for democratic government in that Caribbean nation. Our efforts at Cuba, in its unilateral action to ban all trade with Cuba.

"I urge that we have more unilateral action by the United States, and that we move such action in an exercise of Leadership," Congressman Rogers said. "I further urge a greater use of Congressional delegates to conferences such as the one just held at Punta del Este. The presence of elected Representatives affords a clear interpretation of the strong, determined will of the American people in their fight against communism."

"We have stood idle too long. In order to retain the United States position as the direct force in the destiny of free men, the United States must do all in its power to see that the will of free men is carried out. Events in this hemisphere have taken a turn."
